

Nathan Anthony

Bonn, a sculptural design that uses a pared-down aesthetic to convey lightness is the spirit of modern architecture. With a chassis that appears to float in space, supported only by its cantilever wood and metal legs, Bonn creates an uninterrupted line across the width of the frame. Building on this linear look, Bonn seating features knife-edged and boxed seat cushions that are minimalist in shape but cozy in feeling.

"Bonn uses space and openness to enhance the spaces around a piece that are normally closed to the eye," says designer Tina Nicole. "The result is a soft, modern look that is both soothing and stimulating."

"Bonn works beautifully with a wide range of other interior decor objects," says Ms Nicole, blending in easily with other styles while also making its own singular design statement.

www.nafurniture.com

Duistt

The Julius chair inspired in mid-century modern design is a timeless and understated luxury piece that will follow you for life. The lightness of the brass structure contrasts with the strong upholstered seat. This is a luxury piece constructed with noble materials, like brass and cotton velvet, with small details that enhance its beauty, such as the engraved screws and the hidden structure of the chair that makes it look suspended. Julius chair is a very versatile piece that can be used as a dining, living or office chair. It is constructed with polished brass structure and velvet upholstered and is available in other finishes.

Created in Oporto, Portugal, in 2014, Duistt is a furniture brand specialising in upholstery. Like the city, the company breaths history and modernity. It blends ancient knowledge and techniques with modern aesthetics. Duistt designs refined, sophisticated, high-end pieces and pursues perfection in every aspect of their products. Their design takes in consideration three major premises: aesthetics, quality and comfort. As the entire Duistt collection, this product presents itself with in temporal design of classical references, built to last.

www.duistt.com